Establishment of Appomattox

Appomattox County suffers from a lack of records for the first 47 years of the County's existence, due to a fire in January 1892 which destroyed all the county records except the Tax Books which were being rebound at Everette Waddy and Co.,Richmond, Va. and thus escaped the fire.

"Mr. Claude W. Smith, Clerk of Appomattox County, obtained from Prince Edward County Records a copy of the original map drawn in 1845 when the original boundary lines were surveyed, and placed it in Appomattox County Deed Book 31, Page 203, on September 7, 1931, together with a description of the dividing lines with Buckingham, Campbell, Charlotte and Prince Edward Counties.

Description of the boundary of Appomattox County is given below:

"Beginning at the mouth of Davids Creek, on James River; thence dividing lines with Buckingham County to pointers at B; thence to the head of Holiday Creek at C thence down the creek as it meanders to its mouth on Appomattox River at D; thence down the river as it meanders to the eut banks at E.

Then dividing lines with the county of Prince Edward to the mouth of Cabbin Branch on Vaughans Creek at F; then up the creek as it meanders to Grubbs' spring at the head of said creek at G; then to a corner white oak, near Pamphlins (formerly Lands) at H; then along the Red House Road as it meanders to the fork of the Chicken Town Road, the same being the corner of Prince Edward and Charlotte Counties at I.

Then dividing lines with the county of Charlotte along the said Red House Road as it meanders to the fork of the Lynchburg road at J;thence to a corner stone between Charlotte and Campbell Counties.

Then dividing lines with Campbell County to a stone corner (6 poles south of Harvey's Old Mill) at K; then along the Lynchburg Road as it meanders to a stone corner, opposite Moseley's Mill on Falling River at L; then up the river as it meanders to the mouth of Reedy Creek at M; then to a stone corner at Glovers (formerly Hunters) at N; then to a corner black oak (2 poles south of S. C. Andersons) at O;then to the mouth of Scotts branch on James River and then down the said river as it meanders to the beginning".

The undersigned report the foregoing as the bounds of the county of Appomattox, as surveyed by them, on diverse days in the months of May, June and July of the present year. The lines from Pamphlins to the corner of Charlotte and Campbell Counties are plainly marked with three chops, and at all other places plainly marked with two chops. A may of the said county of Appomattox is annexed. All of which is mostly respectfully submitted this day of November, 1845.

CVCC Can Assist Students Through Federal Funds

The Office of Financial Aid and Job Placement at Central Virginia Community College encourages individuals who are planning to attend CVCC in the fall and who are concerned about educational expenses, to contact the CVCC Financial Office about financial assistance. The Financial Aid Office is also interested in providing information to individuals who never really consider higher education because they feel they cannot afford it. The primary purpose of the college's financial aid program is to provide financial assistance to those qualified students, who without such aid, would be unable to attend college.

Federal funds have been made available to CVCC to assist qualfied students with a demonstrated financial need. Determination of a student's need is based on the student's financial resources and the cost of attending CVCC. Included in the costs are allowances for tuition, books, meals, housing, transportation, medical and personal expenses. A student whose financial resources are less than the cost of attendance is considered to have a financial need for the difference. If the student's resources are equal to or greater than the cost, the student is not eligible for financial aid. It is important to note that in the case of students who are supported by the parents, "dependent students," the expected family contribution is included in determining the student's available financial resources for education. This contribuion is based on the ability to contribute, not the desire to contribute.

The determination of a student being considered a dependent student for the 1976-77 school year is made according to the following factors: (1) Did or will the applicant live with parents during 1975, 1976, or 1977? (2) The applicant is, was, or will be listed as an exemption on the parent's federal income tax return during 1975, 1976, or 1977? (3) Did or will applicant receive assistance worth $600 or more from parents during 1975, 1976, or 1977? For purposes of financial aid, the term parents is defined to be the applicant's mother and/or father, legal guardian, or any other person except spouse who provides or did provide more than 50 per cent of the applicant's support.

The Federal Programs of aid at CVCC include: The Basic Educational Opportunity Grant [BEOG]: This program is intended to be the base of a student's financial aid package. A student is eligible if he can demonstrate the need for the grant. To apply a student should submit the application for the Basic Grant, for which a report will be returned to the student within four to six weeks. The report should be presented to the college's Financial Aid Officer. The amount of the grant for which a student is eligible is based on a formula included in the payment schedule developed annually by the U. S. Office of Education. For the 1976-77 school year, the maximum amount a student would be eligible for at CVCC would be $912. This is a grant and not a loan; therefore, it does not have to be paid back. The Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant [SEOG]: The purpose of this program is to provide financial assistance to students with exceptional need who, for lack of sufficient financial means of their own or their families, would be unable to attend college. The funds the student receives under this program must be equally matched by other forms of financial aid. At CVCC, the SEOG award must be matched by the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant and/or the College Work Study earnings. College-Work-Study Program [CWSP]: The purpose of this program is to provide part-time employment in campus jobs for students who have a demonstrated financial need. These jobs are provided for the student to help them earn some of the money necessary to continue their college education. Many jobs are related to the student's area of study.

Students who are or will be enrolled for at least six credits in a regular program are eligible to apply for financial aid.Students wishing to apply for financial assistance must complete a CVCC Financial Aid Application, a Basic Educational Opportunity Grant application and a Parent's Confidential Statement (PCS) by dependent students or a Student Financial Statement (SFS) by an independent student. The BEOG and PCS or SFS are mailed to the address on the applications. It takes approximately four (4) to six (6) weeks for them to be returned. Students should apply early so that their eligibility for aid can be determined before tuition is due. There is no provision in the Va. Community College System for delayed of deferred tuition payments. Aid is awarded on a first come basis. Requests for aid received after the second week of classes will not be considered until the next quarter.

All correspondence and financial information concerning student financial assistance at CVCC is confidential. The awarding of aid is based upon the applicant's demonstrated financial need and their availability of funds. Financial aid awards at CVCC are made without regard to race, color, religion, or sex.

For further information concerning student financial aid call the CVCC Financial Aid Office.
